AUCC
Advocate for higher education

The Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada has represented Canada's universities since 1911. We influence public policy by sharing expertise, information and the perspectives of our members with government, industry and community leaders. Our advocacy ensures that higher education is recognized as vital to Canada's prosperity and quality of life as a knowledge-based society and economy.

We are a non-governmental and not-for-profit group, funded through membership fees and revenues from contract management services and publications. Our priorities include: better public understanding and support for higher education; improved funding for Canada's universities; enhanced support for research innovation; and increased internationalization of higher education in Canada.

We also work toward intellectual property policies that allow university education and scholarship to flourish and student aid policies that help provide equitable access to education across Canada.

To foster broad support for higher education, the AUCC: promotes dialogue with policy makers in Canada; builds partnerships with local, national, and international organizations; and publishes studies on current and emerging trends and issues confronting universities. AUCC provides services to member universities in three main areas: public policy and advocacy; communications, research and information sharing; and scholarships and international programs.

Each member university of AUCC is represented by its executive head. The association's business in conducted by a board of directors, made up of 12 university presidents and the president of AUCC. The activities of the association are coordinated by our Secretariat, located in Ottawa.
